CHILD LABOR IS RESTRICTED WITH ACTION IN HOUSE

Resolution Favoring Child Labor Amendment is Passed

LINE AT 18 YEARS

Opposition Bases Fight on Action of States in Ignoring Move

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—A resolution proposing a child labor amendment to the constitution was passed today by the house.

Every effort to modify the amendment, which now goes to the senate failed. It would empower congress to limit, regulate or prohibit the labor of children under 18 years of age.

The vote was 297 to 69, or 53 more than the two-thirds required for passage.

Voting in the affirmative were 167 Republicans, 128 Democrats, one socialist and one independent.

Representative Longworth of Ohio, the Republican leader, aided Representative Foster of Ohio, author of the resolution, in conducting the fight for the measure.

Graham Leads Opposition

The opposition was directed by Chairman Graham of the judiciary committee, Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, and Representatives Sumner of Texas and Montague of Virginia, Democrats.

Opposition was based chiefly on the ground that the proposed amendment, made necessary if congress is to have authority to deal with the problem, by action of the supreme court in twice declaring federal child labor laws unconstitutional, would constitute an invasion of states' rights.

On the other hand, proponents of the resolution contended that a federal standard must be set up to bring certain states which have been backward in the enactment of child labor legislation to a more rigid requirement. The resolution would enable congress to set a minimum standard beyond which the states would be free to go in controlling the problem.

FALLEN CHIEF LIES IN STATE

Boss Murphy's Friends, Rich and Poor, Show their Esteem in Many Ways.

NEW YORK April 26.—The body of Charles Francis Murphy, for 22 years grand chieftain of Tammany Hall and the most conspicuous shaper of political destinies of his time, today lies in state in the modest parlor of the East Seventeenth street "brownstone" front that for so many years was the town home of the "chief."

Over all the city buildings in the fiveborough flags were at half mast, every outpost of the fifteenth street wigwam was draped in black, while many hotels and stores and numerous individual households displayed evidences of their grief.

All of "Chief" Murphy's friends were expected among the mourners at the Murphy home today—rich and poor, spruce and fashionable and woefully unkept men and women, political leaders and ward heelers, with haggard and toilworn east side women who knew the "chief's" bounty.

Throughout all the rooms were floral tributes from great and small throughout the land. Baskets had to be resorted to so that the thousands of condolatory messages might not litter the hushed rooms.

Funeral services will be held on Monday in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue. A solemn requiem will be sung by Bishop Dunn, in charge of the archdiocese in the absence of Cardinal Hayes. Honorary pallbearers include Governor Smith and United States Senator Copeland.

No More Italian Passports

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 26.—Lloyd Sabaudo, steamship official, today announced the receipt of a cabled dispatch from Italian immigration authorities at Rome advising that no further passports would be issued to the wives and children of Italians naturalized or resident aliens in America.

To Close McCray Case

(By the Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 26.—The prosecution plans to close its case today in the trial of Governor McCray in federal court on charge of using the mails to defraud.

Secretary of Ford Summoned Before Investigating Body

WASHINGTON April 26.—A subpoena was issued late today calling for the appearance on May 2 of E. G. Liebold, Henry Ford's private secretary, before the Muscle Shoals hearing of the senate agriculture committee.

Chairman Norris, it was explained, desires to question Liebold about certain phases of the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals and telegrams exchanged between the manufacturer's secretary and James M. Miller, Washington newspaper correspondent, and William J. Cameron, employee of the Dearborn Independent, who were brought before the committee today on a subpoena.

CHAPTER X

The Lady of the Hidden Face.

Next morning at ten, the door boy at his lodgings informed Jack that a lady was waiting to see him in the parlor. The lady was deeply veiled. She did not speak, but arose as he entered the room and handed him a note. She was tall and erect with a fine carriage. Her silence was impressive, her costume admirable.

The note in a script unfamiliar to the young man was as follows:

"You will find Margaret waiting in a coach at eleven today at the corner of Harley street and Twickenham road."

The veiled lady walked to the door and turned and stood looking at him. Her attitude said clearly: "Well, what is your answer?"

"I will be there at eleven," said the young man.

The veiled lady nodded, as if to indicate that her mission was ended, and withdrew.

Jack was thrilled by the information, but wondered why it was so wrapped in mystery. Not ten minutes had passed after the departure of the veiled lady when a messenger came with a note from Sir Benjamin Hare. In a cordial tone, it invited Jack to breakfast at the Almack club at twelve-thirty. The young man returned his acceptance by the same messenger, and in his best morning suit went to meet Margaret. A cab conveyed him to the corner named. There was the coach with shades drawn low, waiting. A footman stood near it. The door was opened and he

BALFOUR PRAISES LABOR OF LEAGUE

Recovery of Austria Should Convince Skeptic of League's Worth

LONDON—The story of the recovery of Austria should convince the most sceptical and most cynical that the League of Nations is capable not only of great disinterested effort for a common world object, but that through it alone can the peace and prosperity of the world be guaranteed. The Earl of Balfour said recently in addressing the first meeting of the Anglo-Austrian society.

The society, which is composed of Englishmen and Austrians resident in London interested in the reconstruction of Austria, has grown out of the successful efforts of these people to float the Austrian loan in England. More particularly the society is interested in promoting good relations between England and Austria in the matters of art, science, commerce and education, and to help Vienna to reassume the leadership in those arts which she formerly held.

Lord Balfour, as chairman of the finance committee of the league, which in November, 1922, investigated the possibilities of stabilizing the Austrian currency and reconstructing the country, is accredited with having drawn up the plan which within 15 months has made the country one of the most stable and prosperous on the continent.

The earl declared that the league of nations had firmly fixed itself as a necessity. "By its capable carrying out of its Austrian policy with wisdom, with caution and with courage, the league has justified its existence once again," he said.

There were problems confronting the world today, the speaker declared, the solution of which was difficult; some others the solution of which seemed impossible. But those who are apt to be pessimistic saw Margaret looking out at him and shaking her hand.

"You see what a silly thing I am!" she said when the greetings over, he sat by her side and the coach was moving. "A London girl knows how to get her way. She is terribly wise, Jack."

"But tell me, who was the veiled lady?"

"A go-between. She makes her living that way. She is wise, discreet and reliable. There is employment for many such in this wicked city. I feel disgraced, Jack. I hope you will not think that I am accustomed to dark and secret ways. This has worried and distressed me, but I had to see you."

"And I was longing for a look at you," he said.

"I was sure you would not know how to pull these ropes of intrigue. I have heard all about them. I couldn't help that, you know, and be a young lady who is quite alive."

"Our time is short and I have much to say," said Jack. "I am to break fast with your father at the Almack club at twelve-thirty."

She clapped her hands and said, with a laughing face, "I knew he would ask you!"

"Margaret, I want to take you to America with the approval of your father, if possible, and without it, if necessary."

"I think you will get his approval," said the girl, with enthusiasm. "He has heard all about the duel. He says every one he met, of the court party, last evening, was speaking of it. They agreed that the old general needed that lesson. Jack, how proud I am of you!"

She pressed his hand in both of hers.

"I couldn't help knowing how to shoot," he answered. "And I would not be worthy to touch this fair hand of yours if I had failed to resent an insult."

"Although he is a friend of the general, my father was pleased," she went on. "He calls you a good sport. A young man of high spirit who is not to be played with; that is what he said. Now, Jack, if you do not stick too hard on principles—if you can yield only a little, I am sure he will let us be married."

"I am eager to hear what he may say now," said Jack. "Whatever it may be, let us stick together and go to America and be happy. It would be a dark world without you. May I see you tomorrow?"

"At the same hour and place," she answered.

They talked of the home they would have in Philadelphia and planned its garden. Jack having told of the site he had bought with great trees and a river view. They spent an hour which lent its abundant happiness to many a long year and when they parted, soon after twelve o'clock, Jack hurried away to keep his appointment.

Sir Benjamin received the young man with a warm greeting and friendly words. Their breakfast was served in a small room where they were alone together, and when they were seated the baron observed:

"I have heard of the duel. It has set some of the best tongues in England wagging in praise of 'the Yankee boy.' One would scarcely have expected that."

"No, I was prepared to run for my life—not that I planned to do any great damage," said Jack.

"You can shoot straight—that is evident. They call your delivery of that bullet swift, accurate and merciful. Your behavior has pleased some very eminent people. The blustering talk of the general excites no sympathy here. In London, strangers are not likely to be treated as you were."

"If I did not believe that I should be leaving it," said Jack. "I should not like to take up dueling for an amusement, as some men have done in France."

"With Sir Benjamin, the duel has been a help instead of a hindrance," said the young man. "My stubborn son has been the great obstacle."

Then he told of his interview with Sir Benjamin Hare.

Franklin put his hand on Jack's shoulder and said with a smile:

"My son, I love you. I could wish that she, too, will follow the great star in the West."

"I hope so, but I greatly fear that our meeting will be prevented."

not forget the duty of a host. He began to speak of other things. The breakfast went on to its end in an atmosphere of cool politeness.

When they were out upon the street together, Sir Benjamin turned to him and said:

"Now that we are on neutral ground, I want to say that you Americans are a stiff-necked lot of people. You are not like any other breed of men. I am done with you. My way cannot be yours. Let us part as friends and gentlemen ought to part. I shall go by with a sense of regret. I shall never forget your service to my wife and daughter."

"Think not of that," said the young man. "What I did for them I would do for any one who needed my help."

"I have to ask you to give up all hope of marrying my daughter."

"That I cannot do," said Jack. "Over that hope I have no control. I might as well promise not to breathe."

"But I must ask you to give me your word as a gentleman that you will hold no further communication with her."

"Sir Benjamin, I shall be frank with you. It is an unfair request. I cannot agree to it."

"What do you say?" the Englishman asked in a tone of astonishment, and his query was emphasized with a firm tap of his cane on the pavement.

"I hate to displease you, sir, but if I made such a promise, I would be sure to break it."

"Then, sir, I shall see to it that you have no opportunity to oppose my will."

In spite of his fine restraint, the eyes of the baronet glowed with anger, as he quickly turned from the young man and hurried away.

Jack turned his steps toward Franklin's door.

"I am like the land of Goshen amid the plagues of Egypt," said Franklin, when the young man was admitted to his office. "My gout is gone and I am in good spirits in spite of your adventure."

"And I suppose you will scold me for the adventure."

"You will scold yourself when the consequences have arrived. They will be sure to give you a spanking. The deed is done, and well done. On the whole I think it has been good for the cause, but bad for you."

"Why?"

"You may have to run out of England to save your neck and the face of the king. He was there, I believe?"

"Yes, sir."

"The injured lad is in a bad way. The wound caught an infection. Intense fever and swelling have set in. I helped Sir John Pringle to amputate the arm this afternoon, but even that may not save the patient. Here is a storm to warn the wandering linnet to his shade. A ship goes tomorrow evening. Get ready to take it. In that case your marriage will have to be delayed. Rash men are often compelled to live on hope and die fasting."

"With Sir Benjamin, the duel has been a help instead of a hindrance," said the young man. "My stubborn son has been the great obstacle."

Then he told of his interview with Sir Benjamin Hare.

Franklin put his hand on Jack's shoulder and said with a smile:

"My son, I love you. I could wish that she, too, will follow the great star in the West."

"I hope so, but I greatly fear that our meeting will be prevented."

"You can shoot straight—that is evident. They call your delivery of

HIGH SCHOOL ON PROGRESS MARCH

Report of Principal Hill indicates Advancement of School for Year

The annual report of Principal W. A. Hill of the high school shows much progress in advancing the school in its relation to the public and to the student body it serves.

While the advancements of the school as shown in the records are many, one of the outstanding gains to be accredited to the school year now nearing a close is the increase of the enrollment. The enrollment in the high school for last year was 414 while the figures for this year based on the report of April 1 was 431, an increase of 17 students for the year. Out of the total of 414 last year there were 184 boys and 229 girls. This year there were 198 boys and 233 girls.

Out of the total enrollment for the year, the senior class claims 69 students, the junior class 57 students, the sophomore class 149 and the freshman class 186 students. The number of girls exceed the number of boys in each of the classes.

Out of the total number enrolled for the year there are 27 students 10 boys and 17 girls who come from other districts. These do not include the students whose families have moved to Ada and established residence since September.

The number of students dropping out of school because of change of residence or for other reasons are: change of residence, 44; illness or other home conditions, 94.

FIVE WOODEN BOATS ARE BURNED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 26.—Five wooden excursion steamboats and several smaller crafts were burned today at their berths in the Hudson river off 157th street. Loss was over $1,000,000.

The fire, caused by a gasoline explosion on a small barge, spread to the steamers A. M. Church, Highlander, Nassau, Barton, and Grand Republic. The last named was a sister ship of the General Slocum which was burned in the East river twenty years ago with the loss of a thousand lives.

Thirty employees aboard the Grand Republic barely escaped, many being forced to leap into the water. Two men were burned, one seriously.

Thousands of persons on Riverside Drive and on the Jersey side saw the spectacular blaze. The ships carry thousands of excursionists up the Hudson in summer.

SEVERE DAMAGE AT HUGO BUT NO LOSS OF LIVES

(By the Associated Press) HUGO, April 26.—Damage from a tornado that struck this city late yesterday was estimated today at $15,000. One residence was demolished and another seriously damaged. Many small buildings and out-houses were wrecked. No one was injured.

A string of cars on a railroad siding was moved 200 feet and several of them derailed. Fragments of corn shocks were driven into a telephone pole by the wind.

Dawes Report Accepted

PARIS, April 26.—The replies of the four leading allied powers to the reparations commission's communication regarding the Dawes report all accept the experts' findings wholly.

France alone reserved the question of procedure while Italy declared the report to be "an indispensable whole" which should be taken entirely without condition or qualification.

POLA NEGRIL APPLIES FOR CITIZENSHIP PAPERS LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Pola Negri, Polish motion picture actress, filed application for American citizenship here yesterday. She gave her age as 27, her name Apolonia, Countess Dombska, and her birthplace as Ligno, Poland.

If she meets naturalization requirements the actress would be entitled to citizenship in 1927.

Katy Bridge Safe; Querry Barrage on

The Katy bridge at Tyrola was not washed out and the passenger service between Ada and Oklahoma City is up to standard, according to the vehement announcement of the office personnel of the Katy depot.

When heavy clouds begin to gather, people apparently begin wondering if the Katy bridge at Tyrola will withstand the impeding rain and every windstorm or rain leaves a barrage of querry in its wake. They call in the dead hours of night or most any time during the day in all anxiety concerning the peril of the railroad.

During the heavy rains of Friday the office was besieged with queries from prospective travelers, who sought information about the flood conditions on the Canadian and whether the bridge had still survived.

Officials announced that there was practically no rise on the Canadian river and that service had not been impaired.

Observing Weeks Come too Fast for Adherents

So popular has the custom of observing national "weeks" of one kind and another become that it is predicted that with the approach of another year all of the 1925 calendar will designate the important drives which are apparently designed to develop our dormant virtues.

It is even observed, in some quarters that there is a likelihood of such weeks being given each a set time and thus replacing some of the time-honored holidays and national celebrations that in the past have offered a single day in which to blow off the lid of habit, relegating to the discard date that in the past have brought joyful anticipation long in advance of their coming.

Imagine if you will the cataclysmic disturbances that might result should earnest partisans of the national week for kindness to animals meet a group of citizens joyfully celebrating the national week for kindness to leashed royalty.

In the meantime the bewildered people who would keep abreast of the times turn from national music week to ice cream week, then dash quickly from that to pursue the papers for particulars concerning forest preservation week and national garden week.

The pursuit of national "weeks" is recommended for persons suffering from the indolence that accompanies spring and bears with it a guarantee that as a tonic to keep one alert it has no equal.

BODY OF WOMAN TAKEN FROM LAKE MICHIGAN

(By the Associated Press) CHICAGO, April 26.—The body of a woman, identified later as Miss Janet Stedman, Chicago artist, who formerly lived at Peoria and who disappeared last February, was taken from Lake Michigan today after two small boys had seen the body and notified the police. Friends expressed the opinion that she had voluntarily gone to join her spiritual sweetheart, a young Frenchman, said to have been a scion of the nobility, whom she met years ago and who died and left her wedded to her art alone.

Returning to Chicago from abroad she told friends she had been able to meet and converse with the spirit of her French affiance. She kept tryst with the spirit at the art institute and elsewhere.

The spiritual courtship was the only manifestation of abnormal condition, according to her friends. She disappeared on February 23 and a few days later a sister of Peoria, Ill., asked the Chicago police to search for her.

Official Circles Interpret French Reparation Claims

(By the Associated Press) PARIS, April 26.—Official circles close to the government today interpreted the French reply to the reparations commission's communication to mean that the measures being taken in the Ruhr cannot be withdrawn or modified until Germany has put the experts' plan into execution.

Premier Poincaré, it is reported in these circles, consider that "execution of the experts' plan" consists in the initiation of the bank of issue, the constitution of the railway company proposed in the plan, the delivery of the necessary debentures, and the adoption by the Reichstag of the legislation necessary to put Germany's finances wholly.

France alone reserved the question of procedure while Italy declared the report to be "an indispensable whole" which should be taken entirely without condition or qualification.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. J. JACKSON Mrs. Hester Jackson, wife of A. J. Jackson, died at the family home two miles east of Ada Saturday morning about 4 o'clock.

The funeral services will be held from the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by Rev. W. H. Neff. Interment at Rosedale cemetery.

Deceased is survived by her husband and nine children, four boys and five girls. She was about 40 years of age.

PREPARATIONS ON FOR MAY FETE AT COLLEGE

The results of the preliminaries in the May Queen contest which concluded Saturday night gave Miss Alice Gowing, sophomore, 2,676 votes and Miss Marvine Brydia, freshman, 5,585 votes.

The winner in the final contest which will close Wednesday night at 9 o'clock will be declared Queen of May and coronated at the May fete.

Preparations for the annual May fete held each year by the college here, are being completed rapidly and plans for the festival include features that will make the program this year more entertaining and extensive than those of the past.

A contest is being conducted to determine who will this year wear the crown of May Queen. Marvine Brydia, Thelma Roberts, Josephine Jobe, and Alice Gowing are the candidates for the honor this year. The preliminary of the race was conducted the past week and the final half of the contest is to be run off during the coming week, in which time interest is expected to grow considerably.

The central theme of the fete, according to Miss Anna Weaver Jones, is to be the battle between the farmers and the boll weevils. King Cotton with his satellites will appear, as will the cotton bolls and mimosas. The elements will take a part in determining the issue of the contest.

Many dances are included in the program, which will include several hundred students of the college. The program will be a feature of the national music week, although the exact date has not yet been chosen.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION CALLED FOR TUESDAY

The county Democratic convention has been called to meet Tuesday at the convention hall for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention.

Secretary Clark states that he has not received word from all of the precincts, but he has heard from a sufficient number to make it certain that a fair sized number of delegates have been elected to the state convention.

So far as has been heard no instructions have been given in any of the precinct caucuses and indications are that there will be no question of instructing the delegates to the state convention, no presidential candidate apparently having an advantage in Pontotoc county.

The state convention will elect 29 delegates to the national convention, two from each congressional district and four at large. The state convention will probably also nominate the electors, one from each congressional district and two at large.

Federal statutes fix the penalty for robbery at not more than 15 years.

'Nother 89er

Pontotoc county's list of '89ers was swelled to eight when E. F. West, 1020 East Ninth street declared himself with reference to his entrance into the territory on April 22, 1889.

West, who informed the News of his membership in the list of '89ers Saturday, stated that he had crossed the South Canadian river on April 22, 1889 with about thirty others and that he had homesteaded 160 acres of land following the settlement of the new territory.

The news is anxious to obtain names of others who participated in the rush of '89.

GIRL SLAYER COMPLETES CAREER WITH POISON

(By the Associated Press)

DETROIT, April 26.—A quick acting deadly poison, self-administered, according to the coroner, ended the career of Wanda Elaine Stora, once a Polish immigrant girl who became a brilliant lawyer, distinguished for her mental attainments and a gay figure in the life of Greenwich Village in New York.

Miss Stora died just a few hours before Chicago police who were seeking her in connection with the slaying of Henry Manning, aged caretaker at the home of Y. Kenley Smith, wealthy advertising man, Thursday, had notified Detroit police that she was registered at a hotel here. The woman, according to the police, in a jealous rage went to the Smith residence for the purpose of killing him and his wife after he had refused to obtain a divorce, and shot Manning when he attempted to protect Mrs. Smith.

THE CENTRAL THEME OF THE FETE IS THE BATTLE BETWEEN THE FARMERS AND THE BOLL WEEVILS.

(By the Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Motion for a new trial for Harry K. Thaw, declared sane last Tuesday night by a jury, was filed today by William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife, in behalf of her 13-year-old son, Russell William Thaw. Miss Nesbit's son had been permitted to take part in the sanity proceedings because of his anticipated interest in Thaw's estate.

The census has been taken and the report filed with the county commissioners and the secretary of state.

A charter will be compiled and an election ordered whereby the voters can designate their wishes for the future of the city.

MAN IS CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO POISON WIFE

(By the Associated Press)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 26.—Charged with having attempted to murder his wealthy wife by poisoning her food Clarence O. Baring, eastern advertising representative for the Minneapolis Heat Regulating company, tonight was held without bail after having pleaded "guilty" to the charge except as to the intent to kill.

The mild mannered, aristocratic looking prisoner, who is forty years old, maintains offices in the grand central terminal building in New York city, and is reputed wealthy in his own right, was incarcerated, handcuffed to state troopers, in county judge Bleakley's court at Yonkers.

Because Baring was without counsel the judge receded a plea of not guilty. Baring later retained local counsel. A special grand jury was called for Monday.

OSAGES ASK RETURN OF NAVAL OIL RESERVES

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The interior department announced today that it had taken under advisement a request from the Osage Indian council that eight sections of Oklahoma oil land, embracing 5,120 acres, which were set aside for emergency use by the navy during the war, be returned to the Osages for inclusion in areas subject to annual leasing.

WEWOKA MOVES TO BE CITY OF FIRST CLASS

WEWOKA.—Preliminaries necessary to make Weewoka a city of first class have been completed here.

The census has been taken and the report filed with the county commissioners and the secretary of state.

A charter will be compiled and an election ordered whereby the voters can designate their wishes for the future of the city.

MORE RUMORS REGARDING SCHOOL TEXTBOOK PLAN

OKLAHOMA CITY.—That Governor M. E. Trapp is going to appoint men practically unknown in educational circles as members of the state text book commission, was rumored among school book agents here Friday.

Most of the membership of the commission will be selected from men in the small city schools, it is said.

It is also rumored that the same books now in use will be readopted for the next five years.

The plans are said to be to hold open meetings and after a few days to make an announcement that in view of the fact that it was so late and in view of the cost, it would be best to readopt the same books.

They will reside for the present at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Losgdon, 1200 East 9th.

Mrs. Neal is a teacher in the city schools of Ada. She is a very talented young lady and one of the best known musicians among the younger people of the city. She has long been recognized leader of a large circle of friends and admirers.

Mr. Neal is on the city police force and is a young man of most excellent reputation.

MARRIED LAST SATURDAY

Miss Lena Hicks, Spanish teacher, was married to Mr. C. A. Maxey, graduate student of the Teachers college, Ada, April 19, 1924. Mrs. Maxey will continue her work in the Coalgate high school until the end of the term. She and her husband plan to engage in the teaching profession together. They have made arrangements to teach in one of the high schools in a neighboring county next year. The students and faculty received the news as a complete surprise and were profuse in congratulations and best wishes.

The above item taken from the Coalgate Record-Register is of interest to the many friends of Mrs. Maxey, who spent much of her life in Ada and who for many years attended East Central. She is a graduate of that institution, having received her degree last summer. She has been teaching in Coalgate high school this year.

STATE NUTRITION SPECIALIST TO VISIT ADA

Miss Martha McPheeers, state nutrition specialist from the A. and M. college, will be in Ada Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock to meet with the Home Demonstration classes at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, under the direction of Mrs. Duvall. The canning, cooking and sewing clubs of the county will each send two delegates to the meeting who in turn will take the work back to their clubs.

Miss McPheeers will demonstrate how to make "salads" nutritious, palatable and decorative. There will be fifty of sixty present if all club delegates come as planned. Any one in Ada who is interested in this work is cordially invited to visit the classes during this demonstration.

The sewing classes of women and girls over the county have been very busy in the sewing rooms for the last two weeks. Mrs. Duvall reports over one thousand patterns cut and used during that time. The club members are getting their sewing out of the way before the canning season opens up which at the present time promises to be the best in several seasons.

"LITTLE OLD NEW YORK"

Marion Davies assumes the role of a comely young lad in her Cosmopolitan picture "Little Old New York" which will be the attraction at the American theatre beginning Monday. She appears in the smart togs worn by the youths of a century ago when men were allowed more latitude in their style of dress. Embroidered waist coats and high silk hats have made the men of 1820 able to vie with the women in becoming costumes.

And the quaint charm of New York as it was a century ago is revived in this super-picture in which Miss Davies plays the role of Patricia O'Day, a little Irish girl who comes to America and disguises herself as a boy. The fair young star had her hair cut in a short bob in order to look more boyish. She makes of young "Pat" a most interesting character. The climax where "Pat" is forced to give up the disguise and reveal herself as a forlorn and frightened little girl is one of the most unique and thrilling episodes yet seen on the screen.

Woven into the picture is a beautiful love story which is as sweet and appealing as the old-fashioned mignonette which the belles of that day planted in their gardens. "Little Old New York" was adapted to the screen by Luther Reed from the stage play by Rida Johnson Young. Sidney Olcott directed and Joseph Urban designed the settings.

In the cast are more than a score of players well known on both stage and screen. Among them are Harrison Ford, who plays opposite Miss Davies, Mahlon Hamilton, Norval Keedwell, Lou Wolheim, Courtney Foote, Sam Hardy, J. M. Kerrigan, Gypsy O'Brien, Mary Kennedy, Charles Judels, Spencer Charlers, Riley Hatch and others.

To Present Play

Prof. German's public speaking students of the Ada High School will present their second play of the scholastic year next Friday evening in the Convention Hall. The name of the drama is "Haddon Hall Mystery" a comedy drama in three acts. Ten students will appear on the stage and the reports are the entertainment will be of a high order.

Reports on Sulphur Schools

City School Superintendent A. C. Bray of Sulphur was in Ada today on business. He reports the Sulphur dition. The city a few days ago voted $60,000 in bonds for new buildings, and he has signed up for two more years. He expects to spend the summer in Ada. Professor and Mrs. Bray are both graduates of the local college as well as the state university.

ROFF ORCHESTRA MAKES ITS FIRST APPEARANCE

Among the many good things Roff has to boast of is her orchestra which is made up principally of High School pupils and is thus called the School Orchestra, and the organized only a short time ago and with a few weeks practice they made their first public appearance Sunday when they rendered two numbers in the Easter program at the Baptist church. The orchestra is directed by C. C. Collins and has as its personnel the following:

In violin choir are Homer Myrant, Robert Hill, Ruby Lambert, Miss Valena Allen, Ruby and Berneice Nordean, and Ada Hammock. Misses Imogene Russell and Helen Rucker, clarinet; Bob Miller, Trombone, LeRoy Mathews, cornet and Miss Pauline Givens, piano.

Mr. Collins states that they have been engaged to play for the Junior play to be given May 2nd and insists that the public come out and hear them.

He is delighted with the progress the orchestra is making and thinks that with considerable practice before that time they will be prepared to present a musical program worth while. They practice on Thursday evenings.—Roff Eagle.

PICKETT

This week closes our term of school, which has been very successful in every way. The attendance has been fully good. Most of the pupils will be promoted. Irregularity of attendance however, has caused a few failures.

Misses Mildred and Gussie Stephens visited Miss Wynona Davenport Sunday evening.

Bessie Bullock and Carroll Hoosier are absent from the eighth grade this week.

The club girls had a fine meeting Monday morning. Mrs. Duvall was with them. She complimented the girls for the good work they have been doing the last month.

Mrs. Palmer who has been ill for several days is reported better.

Ola Roberts is visiting in Allen this week.

The school went for an Easter egg hunt Friday afternoon.

The eggs were hidden along the bank of the creek. The children enjoyed hunting the eggs but more than that they enjoyed swinging in the "Big Swing". A tired bunch they were when time came to go home but all were glad they went.

There were several of this community who attended the singing convention at Byng Sunday.

There were many who went to the Easter egg hunt at Mr. Smith's Sunday.

TIS GALEY HIGH

It's Galey high you hear from now, Before this paper makes a bow. For it has been glad Easter week, And rabbit eggs we all did seek.

Into the deep dark woods we went To find bunny's eggs we bent; We rushed around with shouts and cries. Ruby and Mary found the prize.

The high school pupils entertained The primary. My, how they did sing. A speech was made by Thomas Ward.

The Trials of Life and the Great Reward.

A sand storm came the other day, And almost blew us all away.

We wouldn't have cared much if it had.

For our history lesson was very bad.

The English two are coming fine, They're writing poetry, famous lines. You'll hear from them some future day.

When Galey school has passed away.

Our teachers teach us how to sing, O how we make the music ring. They teach us many readings nice Which gives our school much pep and spice.

Our Sundays, too, are full of joy, Especially for the girls and boys. We went to the river yesterday, And watched the waters dance and play.

Ruth Cole was walking on the sand, A'feeling so very great and grand. It was so nice and white and cool, But O, she landed in a pool.

Bertha Blevins and Jesse Ward, Are walking now in one accord. For they were married yester morn, May they gather roses and not the thorns.

The Galey high is fine we think, It always stands in foremost rank. All the pupils are very fine, Next week we'll come again in rhyme.

LOVELADY

A large crowd was present at the Bible class Sunday afternoon.

We have purchased some new song books; we have some real good singing now in the Sunday afternoon. We appreciate other communities coming and joining with us in our song service and Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Taylor took dinner with B. J. Allen Sunday.

Fleda Potter took dinner with Lois Robison Sunday.

Quite a number of young folks of this community attended the program at Union Valley Friday night.

Reported a real good time.

Eulas Brannon made a business trip to Ada Friday morning.

Mittie Hutchings, Mae and Hazel Carmichael, Earl and Hyatt West, Hillard, Edgar and Lavaughn Oliver of Ahloso attended the B. Y. P. U. at Lovelady Sunday night, also Lucille Meadows and Gladys Brumley of Homer. We appreciated their presence and will be glad for them to come any time.

Rachel Allen went to Union Valley Sunday morning.

Our school is progressing nicely but some of the pupils are having to drop out on account of having to work. Our school will close May 2 and we are preparing a program for the close of school.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Files of near Pickett visited Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Sanders Sunday.

Bertha Brannon attended the B. Y. P. U. Sunday night.

Bryan Robison, Amos Brannon, and Herman Tollison and Morley Thogmartin went fishing Saturday.

Thurman Fox of Ada attended preaching at this place Sunday morning.

Noweta Moore passed the week with Ola and Liza Tollison.

Grady Allen was in Ada Saturday.

Most all of the farmers are preparing to plant cotton at the present time and they would appreciate a nice shower of rain.

Come on Pleasant Hill with your news. We like to hear from you.

Packingtown Lynching Case

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Habeas corpus petition was granted Lee Whitley, one of the men convicted of the lynching of Jake Brooks, negro Packingtown worker, two years ago, Friday by the criminal court of appeals.

Police Chief Ray Frazier was ordered to appear Saturday at 1 a. m. before the court to show why Whitley should be held in prison.

Papers were filed in the pardon and parole office several days ago in which various persons said that Whitley was suffering from tuberculosis.

Application also was made for an extension of the leave of absence which was granted by J. C. Walton. It is said that May 5 was set for hearing the application and that the leave of absence does not expire until May 11.

After the application was filed Governor Trapp revoked the leave and Whitley's attorneys said Whitley did not know it had been revoked until he was arrested by officers.

Two eggs recently found in South Dakota and believed to be millions of years old have been placed in a museum.

By AGOLPH BUGG
SATURDAY, April 26.—This bein' on th' eaves up th' big tournament with Holdingville, which is t' be played t'morrow, it is natchaly all th' talk with all th' guys that has lost both their tempers an' several new balls th' last weeks tryin' t' get a score low a nuff t' be 1 up th' 10 that is goin' t' hang it on th' alleged an' self styled Oil Metropolis on th' off side up th' river. In ray th' Oiled Metropolis, (t' use a legal phrase) it seems that most any community where they reads th' daily papers would have laid off that "Oiled" line, particularly since they is so much Oiled scandal a float at the presents. An' golify speakin', they is liable t' be a tea-pot-domed considerable if they happens t' hook their drive from most any tee on th' course.

Up course it is th' practice t' get interviews from all uv th' principals in any event. An' th' proper time for these statements t' appear is on th' eaves up th' event. Accordinly, th' typewriter lines has interviewed every member up th' team t' represent th' local club, an' their eaves statements is giv' Batten as follows with also their qualifin' scores:

P. E. Alderson, 82
"It was a lead pipe cinch for me to shoot a 82. If I hadn't had a headache and had been right in my putting and hadn't had to take several penalties on the round, I could have beat 82 several strokes. I am confident that we will win the match Sunday."

Roy L. Givens, 86
"I am frank to say to you Mr. Bugg, that I feel that Holdenville hasn't a chance. Of course I am judging from the stick I shoot myself. There are few men that could have played the course under such conditions as I did on my qualifying round. Most players would never have broken a hundred."

Walter N. Wray, 87
"It makes no difference to me what the other members of this golf team think of this match. I am confident that we will win by quite a safe margin. Crowds never rattle me. I have been in public sports for a long time and am always cool as a cucumber. I'll play my best game tomorrow."

James A. Leverett, 87
"I don't see how Holdenville has a chance to win from us with me on the team. I've bought a new set of golf knickers for the match, and there's only one thing that worries me. I am so small, some of the visitors might take me for a caddy. But when the play starts, I'll show 'em a thing or two."

J. Byron Sledge, 88
"I am as confident that my playing will contribute to our winning from Holdenville as I am that I am making this statement. The boy from Holdenville that plays me will go back with the impression that Waterloo was a game played with tiddley-winks."

James L. McCauley, 89
"By golly-whack, them birds aint seen nothin' nor been no where till they go round our course. An' when I get through with my man, he'll

Dennis A. Davis, 91

The following telegram was received from Mr. Davis who is in Ft. Smith, Ark.:

"Will arrive on same train with victims. Will try and keep them from turning back.—D. A. D."

Harmon Ebey, 91

"I feel delicacy in making a statement for the public in reference to my ability as a golfer. That 91 I shot the other day is just a carelessness round I played. I'll be in real form, however, for the match with Holdenville tomorrow."

M. O. Matthews, 91

"It would be the height of folly to even suppose that Holdenville will get to first base against such a combination as myself and those whose who will represent our club. Vardon, Ray and Bobby Jones would even take the buck if they had to play against us."

If them eaves-up-the-match statements aint a nuff t' make a invadin' club shake in their golf shoes, th' typewriter lines is a badly footed man.

PICTURE CONTRASTS IS
"THE CALL OF THE CANYON"

The inspiring contrast between traffic-crowded streets in New York and magnificent open spaces of mountainous Arizona are shown in a manner never before presented on the screen in "The Call of the Canyon", a Paramount picture adapted from Zane Grey's latest novel, which will be on view at the McSwain theatre Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Grey is said to have accomplished one of the greatest achievements of his career in this novel.

The picture retains the spirit of the story, were used as a background for the picture as was the case in filming "To the Last Man," the first of Mr. Grey's stories to be pictured for Paramount.

Featured in the cast are Richard Dix, Lois Wilson and Marjorie Daw. The picture was directed by Victor Fleming. Heading the supporting cast are Noah Beery, Richard Corben and Fred Huntley, men at the top of their profession. Doris Schroeder and Edfrid Bingham adapted the story for the screen.

The picture deals with that phase of current American history immediately following the great war when the world went mad over jazz music and wild extravagance. Richard Dix as Glenn Kilbourne, a war hero, returns to his sweetheart Carley Burch who is living a gay life like the rest of young America. Carley played by Lois Wilson, is unwilling to give up city luxuries to go west with Kilbourne. In Arizona meanwhile, Glenn meets Flo Hutter (Marjorie Daw). He is about to marry her when Carley Burch arrives from the east.

A series of dramatic scenes follow in which the girl from New York wages a battle of wits against Flo for the affections of Kilbourne. The bigness of the spirit of westerners is shown in the final scenes which are filled with suspense to the close of the picture. It is a picture that none can see without enjoyment and profit.

THREE SELECTED TO HEAD
BALLOONISTS AT BRUSSELS

SAN ANTONIO, April 26.—W. T. Van Orman, Captain H. E. Honeywell, and Major Norman W. Peek will represent America in the Gordon-Bennett international balloon race at Brussels in June as a result of their having won the first three places in the national elimination race which started from Kelly field here Wednesday and ended yesterday in Minnesota. Van Orman, piloting Goodyear Third, entry of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, won the race when he remained in the air 43 hours and 24 minutes and traveled an estimated distance of 1,100 miles. He landed at Rochester, Minnesota.

OIL NEWS

Lloyd is underreaming at a little more than a thousand feet in section 6-3-7, three miles east of Ada. Bowles and Smith in section 34-5-6 are a bit more than 1500 feet, another small showing of oil was found Friday afternoon, they report.

The American Oil and Refining company is around 700 feet in section 9-4-6.

Hughes and others have their casing set at 530 feet and ready to begin making new hole in section 28-4-7.

The McDougal well in section 20-5-7, between Konawa and Saska, is still keeping the oil men very much interested. The oil sand found at 2720 proved to be 17 feet thick, the bottom making salt water. Drilling through this the drillers encountered a small break of shale, and then went into a gas sand. With this sand penetrated three feet, the gas cleaned the hole. Operations were shut down Friday at noon on account of the rain, but were to be resumed Saturday afternoon. The outlook for a producer in one of the lower sands is said to be exceptionally good.

C. J. Wrightsman is spudding at 220 feet on the well at Center in section 24-4-4. This outfit is being operated by Ada citizens, C. J. Skirvin, "Doc" Sandbach and Jack Kitchell, well known operators and drilling contractors.

INTERESTING WEEK AROUND STONEWALL

Social Gatherings and Auto Accident Recorded. New Buildings Going Up

(By Special Correspondent)

Stonewall, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Snipes and family of Ada spent Sunday in Stonewall, the guests of Mrs. Snipes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Austelle.

Mrs. Thomas Oliver and Miss Helen Floyd both of Oklahoma City were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Burris.

Mrs. Earnest Austelle and little daughter Shirley, who have been visiting relatives in Heldton returned home last week.

Mrs. J. W. Fuller who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, is reported improved.

Miss Jessie Brown of the Tupelo High school faculty spent the week end here, the guest of her aunt Mrs. G. C. Walker.

Arthur and Viola Harrison both of the Purcell High School faculty spent the week end with their parents.

Hogan Washam of Ada was a Stonewall visitor last Sunday.

Misses Ruth Garrett and Gladys Flanders of Okemah spent the week end in Stonewall with Miss Ruth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Garrett.

Claud Thompson who is attending the university at Norman spent Sunday here with friends.

C. L. Burnett made a business trip to Ada Monday morning.

Tom Henson was transacting business in Ada Monday.

Francis Johnson, Willie Payne and Leonard Henson, of Francis were business visitors in Stonewall last Monday.

One of the prettiest of the Easter parties was the one given by Mrs. L. E. Lamb in her home last Monday evening at 3:00 p. m. Invitations were extended to the two missionary societies, Baptist and Methodist. Vases of beautiful white Easter flowers were placed about the room. The color white was carried out in all appointments. The hostess had arranged an interesting program which consisted of the following numbers: piano solo, Viola McClosky; vocal solo, Mrs. Acker; reading, Ruby Walker; piano solo, Herman Garrett; Vocal solo, Lois Furiong; vocal solo, Thelma Scrivner. Interesting games and contests were another feature. The game of composing love stories was greatly enjoyed by all. Each one thinking she herself had the best story.

Dainty refreshments were served and at a late hour they all left for their homes having spent a pleasant evening.

Miss Helen Garrett of Okemah was in Ada for the district track meet, her mother Mrs. G. W. Garrett of Stonewall joined her in Ada for the occasion. Miss Helen was very fortunate for some of her music pupils carried off first prizes. Stonewall, Miss Helen's home town, rejoices with her over the victory so justly due her and we wish for her many more.

Mrs. Earnest Austelle is reported very sick this week.

Word has been received from Rev. L. E. Lamb who is at the bedside his father in Warrensburg, Mo., that his father shows no improvement and he cannot state definitely when he will be home again.

The Garrett family were the victims of a car accident, when their Ford turned over while enroute to the Katy depot last Sunday evening. The family received several bruises but none have proved serious however. The damage to the car was quite a bit.

The ladies of the town met at the Methodist church Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing a Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Anna Dewalt and Mrs. Kesselring were the speakers of the evening. We extend visitors a cordial invitation. This is a Christian work and will be carried on a religious manner.

Senior Class Picnic

Tuesday morning, April 22, sixteen seniors with baskets full of delicious eats, gathered at the home of their sponsor, N. B. Benich. By 10 o'clock every thing was ready for the drive to Byrds Mill, unfortunately the trip was punctuated by a blow out but it was soon remedied and the party journeyed on. A plunge in the clear cool stream gave the party ravenous appetites which were satisfied by the delicious eats. Five gallons of ice cream served for refreshments throughout the afternoon. All report a splendid time, and that the Senior picnic of Stonewall High School, 1924, will be a happy memory for future meditation.

The two stone buildings belonging to Elkins Bros that are now under construction are showing up nicely and will certainly add to the appearance of Main street. They are being erected where the old Elkins and McClosky buildings burned down.

Our new Post Master Jim McKay is now on duty for Uncle Sam. I. W. Odum is his assistant.

Wednesday evening a few families caroled out a pleasant surprise. They all left town with baskets full of good things to eat and met out at the New Oil well west of town and spread supper. The drill hands were all invited to a real feed.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Billings and little daughter Lorice attended the vaudeville show in Ada Thursday night.

Little Miss Juanita Strickland of Ada was the week-end guest of Mrs. C. L. Burnett. She returned to Ada Sunday night.

Miss Inez Rives who has been visiting her sister in Oklahoma City for the past few weeks returned home Thursday night.

Ashon Stevens of Oklahoma City has been a visitor in Stonewall for the past week.

CHURCHES

Aubury Methodist.

We have adopted the graded lessons in the beginners and primary departments of our Sunday school. The children are enjoying the new lessons. The attendance demands four classes instead of two. Bishop Thurston of Tulsa at Episcopal Church Here Today

The congregation of the St. Luke's Episcopal church and the public at large is urged to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Bishop T. P. Thurston of Tulsa in the services of the church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Bishop Thurston is one of the most popular ministers of the southwest and a leader in the Episcopalian church. Bishop Thurston will confirm a class of adults Sunday morning.

Bishop and Mrs. Thurston were honored with a banquet at the parish house Saturday night. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Finley.

Only one railway accident involving loss of life occurred in England in 1923.

JACK MOORE WINNER IN MUSICAL CONTEST

Ada high school was well represented in the non-athletic events connected with the twentieth annual track and field meet conducted by the state university at Norman.

The local high school sent entries in chorus, clarinet, cornet and several contestants in the purely literary events offered for supremacy in courses taken from high school work.

Of those competing from here

Jack Moore carried off the highest laurels through winning first place in cornet over a field of representatives from the strongest schools of the state. Jack is now a freshman in high school, with three years yet before him. He has been working as a cornetist for several years and is a mainstay in the high school band. He is also president of the freshman class.

Drew Page, high school senior, won his way into fourth place in the clarinet contest, in which many entrants took part.

Mrs. C. M. Bliss, director of the girls chorus, expressed herself as delighted with the showing made by the Ada girls, although they did not win a place.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

PEACE I LEAVE WITH YOU, my peace I give unto you not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.—John 14:27.

SCHOLARSHIP TO THE FRONT.

It is gratifying to notice the growing list of honor students at the East Central State Teachers College. More than one hundred were on this list last term. If the increase continues, it is only a matter of time until the institution will rank with the very highest in the land, as it already ranks highest in this state.

Educational ideals change. A decade back side lines were in great favor in schools. The various corollary lines of interest threatened to become more important or more in the public eye at least than the old fundamentals. The pendulum is now swinging back, and the boy or girl in school who knows the most language, science, mathematics and other fundamental branches is one to get public recognition.

East Central is growing in size and in service because the first thing is given first place.

The News believes the Chamber of Commerce in the person of Bailey M. Bibbitt has a secretary that will reflect much credit on the city and render a distinct service. He has had business experience and the opportunity to mix with men who do things and these ought to serve him in good stead. We suggest that every person in Ada, whether a member of the body or not, get behind President Givens, Mr. Bobbitt and the directors and put the organization over big. We are going to get some factories here this year, and Ada is to be the third city in Oklahoma before 1927. What do you say?

Evidently Jim Harris is a man who knows when he is licked. Seeing that things were going against him in the Republican state convention he gracefully laid aside all political ambitions and stepped out. Jim is too wise an old bird to butt his head against a stone wall and that was the situation he found confronting him. Jim ruled the party in Oklahoma for a long time but all things have an end. The higher a man goes the more there are seeking to pull him down and sooner or later the effort succeeds.

The Tishomingo Capital-Democrat quotes Alfalfa Bill Murray as predicting a fair sized cotton crop this year. Murray is a close observer and is probably as good a guesser as one could find, so here's hoping that he hits it this time. An encouraging feature of the situation is that the hibernating cages put away in several counties of the state by A. and M. college men are showing a larger percentage of dead weevils than usual.

And now some guy who claims to be a scientist says a blue race is soon to appear on the earth in addition to white, black, red, brown and yellow already here. If this race is to be an offshoot of the tribe of calamity howlers who have a monopoly on the blues now let us hope it will at least not be very prolific.

We understand that all the churches may put on a Sunday school campaign for one month this summer. This is a most excellent idea. If Ada could put eight thousand people in Sunday school every Sunday for a month, it would be good advertising; but more than this it would do much good in a spiritual way.

The first lesson in life to be learned is to face the music no matter what tune is played. When a fellow realizes that life is not a soft snap and resolves to face it and make the most of it he is prepared to get along in the world.

We may be entirely wrong, but we take it that Ex-Secretary Daugherty and Senator Wheeler of Montana do not particularly love one another. Of course "them words may not mean nothing."

It's just one blank thing after another. When the gas bill goes down, the ice bill goes up. When the light bill goes down, the fan bill goes up. Ain't it fun?

Now that a clean-up campaign is under way, everybody is happy but Johnnie. He is eternally opposed to any clean-up campaign that includes his neck.

They are going to put the bob haired bandit who used a gun in jail. They will let go a few thousand others who use only a smile.

President Coolidge may not attend the Cleveland convention. Maybe he figures it will be the first note of a funeral dirge.

The American people are about to wake up to the fact that Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals was not so much offer as an asking for a monumental donation.

THE PROPHETS' ADMONITION

The Sunday school lesson today deals with the period of the Hebrew kingdoms which, apparently brilliant, was really the last flicker of prosperity before the final collapse. The little kingdoms had had a checkered career and the end was near although none but a prophet could realize the fact.

Geographically Palestine was very unfortunately located. On one side was Egypt while on the other in succession were the empires of the Syrians, Assyrians, Babylonians and finally the empire of the Persians. In their eagerness for conquest the warring nations on either side had to pass through Palestine and the Hebrew nation was between the upper and nether millstones. Besides these there were the smaller kingdoms of Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites and Philistines. The military prowess of David conquered the smaller nations and after consolidating the country, extended its boundaries from the Red Sea on one side to the Euphrates on the other. So thoroughly was David's work done that Solomon, his successor, was able to hold it together with very little effort until his excesses and extravagances roused opposition in the closing days of his reign.

After the division of the kingdom following the death of Solomon troubles came thick and fast. Judah was overrun by the Egyptians and the rising power of the Syrians was for several centuries a menace to Israel.

However, at the time of today's lesson matters had taken an unexpected turn. Both Egypt and Assyria fell into decay and Judah under the able leadership of Uzziah, or Azariah, and Israel under the no less able guidance of Jeroboam II extended their boundaries until they once more approximated those of Solomon's time.

The Israelites had many times fallen into paths of wickedness and on repenting had been delivered from their enemies as one can readily understand by giving thought to the fact that the little country had maintained its existence at all. Prophet after prophet had been sent to preach repentance and in the lesson of today we have the words of Amos and Hosea. With the return of prosperity the Hebrews, like the people of today, forgot everything except what was before them. With a boom period they fondly imagined they were free from calamities for all time and began to indulge in every form of wickedness, forgetting God and His laws. They were careful to observe the forms of their laws, but there was no sincerity behind it and God abominates pretense. When presented in such a spirit the sacrifices of the people were an offense. Justice and mercy were forgotten and the people went their way in lives of ease and luxury.

However, at this time there appeared a prophet in the person of Amos, a humble herdsman who meditating on the evils of the day and fired with a vision of the future denounced the backslidden nation and told of the calamities that were to come at no distant date. His preaching aroused bitter opposition, for it is not human nature to tamely listen to denunciations of its conduct. Flattery is what mankind craves. Hosea added his voice to the warnings of wrath to come and delivered the message of exhortation, pleading with the people to turn from their ways and live right instead of bringing destruction upon themselves, but to no avail. The people went blindly on until their nation was destroyed and passed into the hands of foreign conquerors.

Looking backward we may be inclined to condemn the Israelites for their lack of discernment, but human nature has not changed and matters are still going along much as in those days. The words of the prophets apply to the present generation fully as much as to Israel, but in time of prosperity they are not heeded. It is only when calamities appear that nations and individuals turn from their transgressions and seek justice and righteousness and in time of prosperity the voice of one calling a halt on the mad career is extremely unpopular.

The average political agitator who arrays one class against another and advocates a general tearing down of every thing in existence seldom has a sane suggestion about how he would replace what he tears down. Constructive ideas are something foreign to the mind of these disturbers.

James Dennis Flynn, for many years a figure in the journalistic and political fields of Oklahoma, and experiencing all sorts of ups and downs has landed in St. Louis and secured control of a new paper which will succeed a former German publication and starts off with a rush. Perhaps James Dennis thinks he has at last found a place that really appreciates him.

After discovering numerous wrongs that are being endured by the people the discoverer generally turns around and asks for a nice fat office as a reward for his find. In fact, the yearning for an easy berth is quite an incentive to ferreting out woes of the people that need correcting.

About every time we begin to think it cannot rain in Oklahoma, the Gulf of Mexico empties itself here.

If liars cannot hope for eternal life, what is to become of the dentists who tell us it won't hurt?

Hiram's condition has given down and he will quit his campaign. Old Man Health is some alibi, we'll tell the world.

The newspapers need another war or revolution. Will some one pull Mexico's bell?

CAMPAIGN SEEKS

TO BAR SIGNBOARDS

Large National Advertisers to Favor Abolishing of Outdoor Advertising

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 25.—The multitudes of glaring signboards which dot the nation's highways from coast to coast are doomed and will be largely done away with, if the campaign of the National Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising is successfully carried out. Its program to preserve the scenic beauty of the country's roadways and to eliminate the unsightly billboards which line every vacant space in the cities, already has been endorsed by 16 national advertisers, according to W. L. Lawton, committee chairman. Efforts to do away with the signs are now being projected by the committee in nine states and eventually it is planned to extend the movement throughout the nation.

The national organization is at present co-operating with 41 civic social and other bodies, 13 of which are national, including the Federation of Women's Clubs and the Garden Clubs of America.

In a campaign to preserve civic values the support of Chambers of Commerce and Merchants' Associations also has been enlisted. It was pointed out that the committee is not seeking to eliminate the use of outdoor advertising, but to restrict it to commercial locations.

The work of removing these unsightly encroachments along the Lake George highway in the Adirondacks already has been begun by a number of national advertisers and the Standard Oil Companies of New York and California are at present extending it throughout their districts.

Other national advertisers which have endorsed the committee's program are Kirkman & Son, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Washburn Crosby Company, Champion Spark Plug Company, B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, Sun Oil Company, Hood Rubber Company, Ajax Rubber Company, Dodge Brothers, Gulf Refining Company, Texas Company and Fleischmann Company.

ADA DeMOLAY BAND CLAIMING BEST CHANCE ON CONTEST TO BE HELD AT ANNUAL CONCLAVE

Ada claims the best DeMolay band in Oklahoma, but there are a few towns in the state which contest the claim. All these competing bands will be in Enid on May 3, and all the admirers of our local organization are anxious to have our local boys "show their stuff." The Ada DeMolay band intends giving a concert Tuesday night, April 29 to raise the money to pay the expense of transportation for the boys. It is good advertising for Ada from every standpoint. The state DeMolay convention meets in Enid on May 1 to 3, and boys from all over the state will be there.

A good band like a good baseball team will give a town more advertising than can be obtained in any other way. The secret of advertising is to get your name constantly before the public. Gradually the public becomes convinced that you have an exceptionally good thing, or you would not see and hear so much about it. A good band is a sign of a good town. It is to the interest of every citizen and especially for the Masons of Ada to see that Ada has a chance to display her band.

Concert Last Wednesday. The first concert was given last Wednesday night as a compliment to the visiting members of the Masonic orders and was greatly admired by all who heard it. The two feature numbers of that program being "Marche Slave" by Tschalkowski and "Providence" a Sacred Fantasia. The former is a magnificent heavy number and the latter is selections from the great oratorios. Representatives from the Shrine bands of Muskogee and Oklahoma City spoke in the highest terms of the ability and musicianship of the DeMolay band. Paying high tribute to Mr. Fred Schreiber, the director. Ada is indeed fortunate to have a musician of such experience and ability as Mr. Schreiber. While he is willing to play the light class of music which is pleasing to some, he has aspirations for both a band and an orchestra that can equal any amateur organization. Mr. Schreiber has given liberally of his time for the upbuilding of good music in Ada, much more in fact, than many of our people realize. Mr. Schreiber is a member of the Advisory Council of the DeMolay and donates his services to the DeMolay band.

The Order of DeMolay had its origin in Kansas City, Mo., and was the outgrowth of one man's endeavor to do something for his own and his neighbor's boys. He realized that the age from 16 to 21 is a hard time for the boy as well as his parents. Parental authority is resented by the vigorous ambitious boy to whom the world is a nut

EDUCATORS PLAN MEET IN GLASGOW

Christian Teachers From Many Lands to Assembly at Scottish Port

(By the Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, April 24.—Veteran railroad men in the Southern railroad yards at Ludlow, Kentucky, have had a surprise. Down the main track recently, sandwiched between the "Sewanee River Special" and a freight, came a sedan auto on flangewheels. It had full steering gear, both front and rear axles being immobile; it weighed 5,000 pounds and was heavy enough to operate the electric block system of the railroad.

The "sedan" was equipped with "cowcatcher"; dashboard speed control, and a motor regulated by a switch formed like a rheostat. It is believed the new car is the only one of its kind.

The designer says the car primarily will be used for inspecting tunnels, and for emergency duty.

On the opening day Dr. Marion Lawrence, of Chicago, is to deliver a short address, and Dr. Hugh McGill of Chicago, will deal with "Christian Education, the Hope of Civilization." Among the several speakers booked to discuss various aspects of religious educational work among adolescent youths are Philip E. Howard, of Philadelphia, and Miss Margaret Slattery of New York.

"The Sunday School and World Prohibition" is the subject of an address to be delivered by the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, D. D., of New York, whose name is followed on the program by that of Dr. W. C. Pearce, of New York, who is assigned the subject, "Christian Education, a World Task," for his discourse.

Another American speaker who has promised to address the convention is Rev. W. E. Rafferty of Philadelphia.

Of well-known Britons, the program contains many names. Lord Robert Cecil is to speak on "The Sunday School and International Peace." The Boy Scout movement will be reviewed by Lieutenant-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, while others of high authority in their respective fields of activity will acquaint the convention with the work of the Girls' Guild, the Boys' Life Brigade, the Girls' Life Brigade, foreign missions, relief measures in distressed areas of the earth, and outdoor recreations in connection with religious activities.

Five thousand delegates are expected to attend the convention. The general theme of the week of discussion will be "Jesus Christ for the Healing of the Nations."

Art Exhibit to Be Held.

TULSA, Okla., April 25.—The annual high school art exhibit for Tulsa will be held at Central high school the week commencing May 12, according to announcement of Merle Prunty, principal. The exhibit will be the largest ever held here having more than 100 objects of art including paintings, manuscripts, musical compositions and examples of various kinds of work done in the manual training school.

LEAGUE PLANS TO INSURE HUNGARY

Plans Devised by League To Direct Future of Balkan Nation.

(By the Associated Press)

GENEVA.—Because of the complicated political problems involved, the completion of the League of Nations plan for the reconstruction of Hungary has given the greatest satisfaction in league circles. It is regarded as the hardest task the league has tackled.

As definitely launched the plan is very similar to that applied in Austria. This, according to all reports, is working satisfactorily toward the financial rehabilitation of that country.

The Hungarian protocols are two in number. The first is of a political nature. It is signed by seven powers—Great Britain, France, Italy, Rumania, the Serb-Croat-Slovene State, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary. The governments of the first six states declare that they will respect the political independence, territorial integrity and sovereignty of Hungary, and that they will not seek any special economic or financial advantages that might compromise that independence.

The Hungarian government, on the other hand, undertakes to fulfill the obligations contained in the Treaty of Trianon, in particular the military clauses, as well as its other international engagements. It is to be understood that Hungary maintains her freedom in the matter of customs tariffs and commercial or financial agreements provided she shall not grant to any state a regime calculated to threaten this independence.

All the powers declare that they will abstain from all acts which might be contrary to the economic and financial reconstruction of Hungary or might prejudice the interests of the creditors.

In the second protocol, which is signed only by the Hungarian government, the latter undertakes to draw up in collaboration with the delegation of the council, a program of reform and reconstruction which will assure budget equilibrium on a sound and durable basis by June 30, 1926. The government will ask parliament to give it the full powers necessary to carry out that program. The Hungarian government will issue a loan of 250,000,000 gold crowns to cover its deficits during the reconstruction period until the budget is balanced.

As security for the loan a first charge will be made upon the gross revenues from the customs, the sugar tax, the tobacco monopoly, and the net revenue from the salt monopoly.

Hungary accepts the appointment of a commission general to be appointed by the council of the league, who will reside at Budapest. It will be his duty to supervise the execution of the reform program. The yield of the loan and of the mortgaged revenues will be paid into special accounts controlled by the commission general, and his functions will come to an end when the council shall have ascertained that the financial stability of Hungary is assured.

SAMOAN BOXER-OARSMAN BECOMES CHIEF OF TRIBE

(By the Associated Press)

HILLO, Island of Hawaii.—Faatola Taufale, until recently a student at the Hilo Boarding school, noted in island circles as a boxer and the mainstay of the Hilo crew in the inter-island regatta for several years, has returned to Samoa, the land of his ancestors, to assume the mantle of high chieftain which his late father bore.

Tufale, the elder, died several weeks ago. Now Tufale, the younger, also known as Faatola the Strong, reigns in his stead.

Faatola entered the boarding school in 1916 and soon began to acquire local fame in boxing circles when he started a long series of knockout victories. He rowed on the Hilo crew for four years.

Some time ago he was summoned to Samoa because of his father's death. Soon after his arrival there the chieftain died. Now Faatola holds sway over the Manua group of the Samoan Islands.

Huggins Another Crystal Gazer

(By Norman E. Brown)

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—If Miller Huggins, peppery little manager of the Yankees, runs across a fortune teller as the team bobs around Louisiana, Alabama and then northward toward the beginning of the American league campaign he may cross the lady's palm with silver and then say:

"Give me a quarter's worth of information on how Bob Shawkey and Waite Hoyt'll turn out this year."

The sensational pitching of Joe Bush, Sam Jones and Herb Pennock at various times in the last three campaigns sort of dimmed the performances of these two hurlers. Fans lost sight perhaps, of the part these two played in all three drives.

But Huggins is aware of it and he is wondering whether or not this pair can go through another grueling war without dropping from plumes or the ravages of time.

He has no other real problems to worry him, here at camp. Babe Ruth's himself. Everett Scott is. Joe Dugan's knee hasn't been naughty once. Aaron Ward's in the pink.

SHAWNEE RAISES FUND FOR TORNADO VICTIMS

SHAWNEE, April 3.—Shawnee citizens were called upon yesterday to express in dollars and cents their neighborliness, humanitarianism and local pride in the first day of a two day campaign to raise $10,000 to aid the tornado sufferers. At five thirty yesterday afternoon a total of $10,012.30 was announced by Col. Hart of the citizens army as a result of the first days effort.

In announcing this result to the meeting of tired, but happy workers, Col. Hart said:

"This is a mighty fine showing men, but we are not done yet. Remember, $10,000 was our minimum quota. We are going to clean up tomorrow on all our districts so that every person will have his chance to contribute. We have our minimum but every dollar we can get will be needed. We have no way of knowing how much we will get from outside sources, and the $50,000 total estimate of needs was also a minimum estimate."

There isn't a sore arm in camp. The rookies look good. Earle Combs for instance has shown that he can be called upon to play the infield or outfield in a pinch—and play it well.

So Huggins just bides his time and waits to see how his team takes it when the season begins.

Three years ago Hoyt turned in 19 victories and 13 defeats. Shawkey won 18 and lost 12. A total of 37 victories from the pair.

Two years ago Hoyt rang up 19 again and lost but 12. Shawkey won 20 and lost a dozen also. Thirteen victories toward another pennant and but 24 defeats.

Last year the two managed to win but 33 games—six less. They lost 20.

Now, six games aren't many. But in a close race—such as that staged two years ago—they mean the winning or losing of the flag.

Shawkey is getting old, however. Hoyt, while winning his share of games each year, never has been a consistent hurler. He keeps a manager in the kettle most of the time.

Huggins appreciates the fact that he cannot expect his pitchers to Royal Fanciers of Poultry.

(By the Associated Press)

MADRID—Poultry from every country of the globe will be shown at the World's Poultry Congress to be held this year at Barcelona from May 10 to 16. In this respect, and in the larger number of species of fowls exhibited, this show will be more interesting than the record congress which met at The Hague in 1921.

Particular interest will be centered in the scientific lectures and on the newest methods in practical poultry culture. Among the delegates already accredited are several scientists of note who have taken a leading part in developing this feature of the exhibition.

The Queen of Spain is sending a number of pens from her yards to be exhibited in the special royal section of the show. The Prince of Wales, the King of Italy, the King of Norway and the Queen of Belgium also will have exhibits.

CROSS-COUNTRY BUS LATEST IN REO LINE

Body Mounted on Six-cylinder Shasis Especially for Passenger Service

A new cross-country Bus of the Sedan Type is the latest addition to the Reo line. The body, which is mounted on a six cylinder chassis especially designed for use in passenger transportation, incorporates a combination of strength and beauty and is particularly suited for cross-country service. Every thought has been given to passenger comfort, an essential to the patronage of interurban bus service, and at the same time every advantage possible has been taken to utilize the space for the pay load. Tests show that seventeen passengers can be seated comfortably in the body which is divided into three distinct compartments—driver's and baggage, passengers' and smokers'.

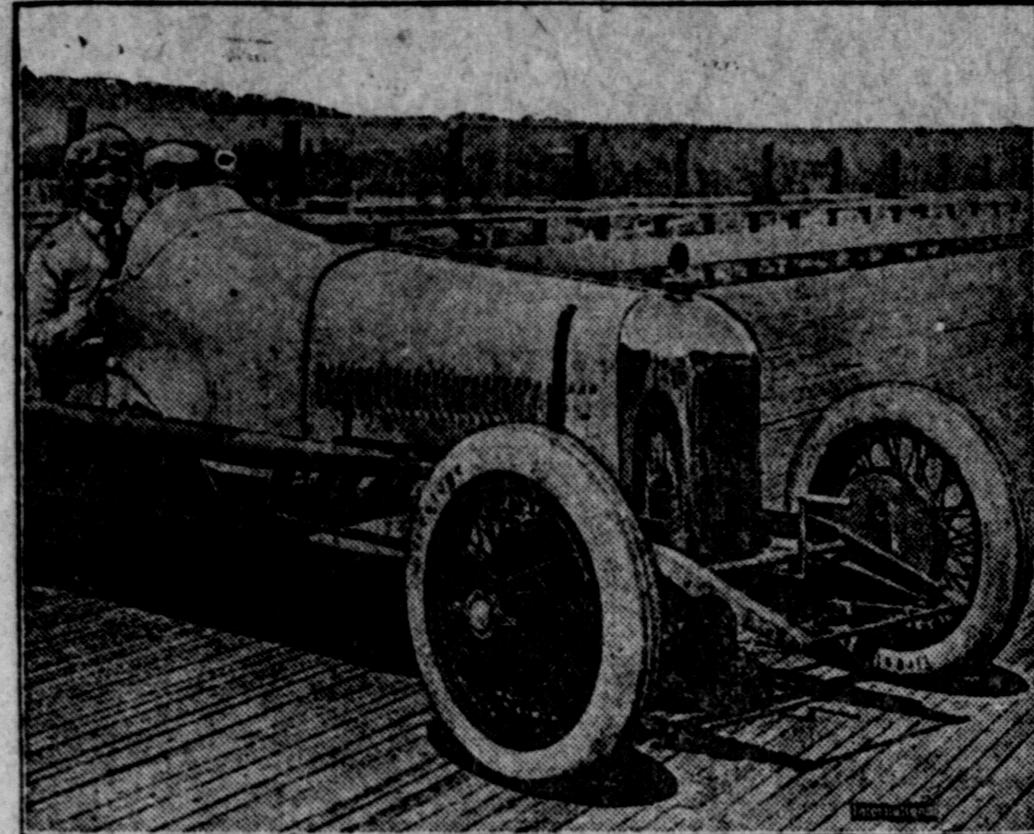

The driver's seat, deeply upholstered, is the individual roomy type. His comfort and freedom for operation are assured. An upholstered auxiliary slab type seat is mounted on the partition in this compartment and can be used for overloads when not in conflict with the existing law governing capacity. However, this seat is so mounted that when not in use it may be folded up against the partition.

The windshield is of the two-piece type with integral wings, which insure a clear vision of traffic conditions. The upper half of this shield is the adjustable section, swinging on a piano type hinge at the top. Two heavy brackets and knurled screws, nickel plated, permit securing the adjustable section in any position desired. The Bus is provided with a windshield wiper, manually operated. A permanent black enameled metal sun and storm shield is fitted at the proper angle over the windshield.

A light fitted with red lens is set in each upper corner at the rear of body, these being of the flush type. There is also a light with green lens at each side at the front end of the body.

A standard type ventilator is set in the top of cow and is controlled by knob from the instrument board. A long, continuous running board serves as a step for the entrance to the driver's and passengers' compartments and a short separate running board is used for the smokers' compartment. Both sides of the body have the same style running boards.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

Don't try to beat a railroad engineer to a crossing.

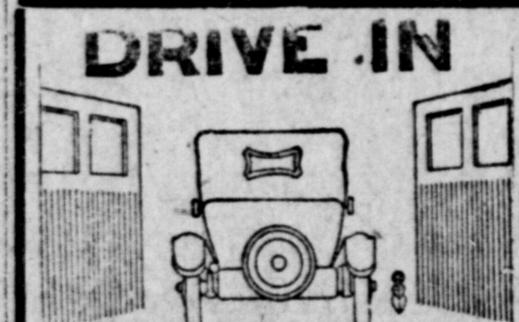

When approaching the crest of a hill slow down and keep to the right.

Leaks around the car mean power wasted and lost. The leak may be of water, oil or fuel.

A common cause of fenders rusting at the fastenings is neglect in not washing the underside of the fenders, which are sure to accumulate dirt and mud.

Spark plugs should never be forced into a position by severe wrench action. They should seat firmly against a copper asbestos gasket, with but little more force than can be applied with the fingers.

MEANS OF STARTING CAR ON LOW BATTERY

Method of Short Circuiting to Reduce Resistance.

If one cell of the storage battery is out of commission, the starter cannot be operated and the engine may be difficult to start because the internal resistance of the dead cell may be so great that it does not allow sufficient current to pass to produce a spark at the plugs when the engine is cranked by hand. The resistance of the dead cell may be overcome and the full current of the remaining cells made available if, after the cell at fault is located, a wrench or other piece of metal is held firmly in contact with the posts of the cell.

After the engine starts, the wrench may be removed because the generator will supply the current for ignition if the engine is kept running fast enough. Care should be taken to use this expedient only on a cell that is dead, as an active cell would be injured by the short circuit. The dead cell may be quickly found by using a hydrometer or voltmeter.

If the current is still insufficient to produce a satisfactory spark and the engine does not start, the resistance in the circuit to the spark coil may be further reduced by placing a shunt around the resistance coil usually found on the top of spark coils. This shunt may be of copper wire and need not be securely connected since it is advisable to remove it, or at least disconnect one end after the engine starts.

Gaskets Very Necessary to Prevent Gas Leakage

In order to secure a liquid or gas-tight joint, even between flat, accurately machined or ground surfaces that are fastened together, a packing of compressible material must be used between them which, when the surfaces are drawn together by the bolts or other means of fastening, will distort to conform to the slight irregularities that may exist, and thus secure a leakless contact, says the Automobile Digest. If the gasket material does not yield to the irregularities of the surfaces in contact with it, it cannot seal the joint. Owing to the necessity of using compressible material, it usually becomes necessary to replace them when removed. Their replacement is thus frequently required and evasive trouble is often caused by new gaskets which blow out due to defective installation.

Machine Demonstrates

the Working of a Tire

An automobile tire company displays in its salesrooms in New York one of the most perfect machines yet devised for demonstrating the working of a tire under road conditions. Mounted on a heavy stand, a big iron drum is driven by an electric motor. An axle and wheel are mounted over the drum, with the tire in contact with it and bearing its weight. The tire is under the same pressure as if on a loaded touring car. The test, a most severe one, consists in driving nails, spikes, etc., into the tire and tube and then running with them at a rate of about twenty-five miles an hour. The machine is operated by electric power and is also equipped with a speedometer, which gives a correct speed of wheels, as if in real road use.

Your Next Car

Will be this Light-Six, if you learn the truth

WHEN you buy a car in the "thousand-dollar" class, here are some things you should know.

We made a canvass of men who bought rival cars in this class. And we found that 96 in each 100 bought without knowing these facts.

So, for your sake and our sake, we want to present them to you.

Save $200 to $400

Studebaker builds 150,000 fine cars yearly. It builds in model factories, modernly equipped. It has spent $38,000,000 in the past five years on new-day plants and equipment.

By quantity and up-to-dateness it saves large sums per car. A car like this Light-Six, built under ordinary conditions, would cost $200 to $400 more.

11.4% less to run

This supreme quality means lower operating cost. Owners of fleets of cars in this class made audited records to prove this.

They compared 329 cars, running up to 25,000 miles each. And they found that the Studebaker Light-Six cost 11.4% less to operate than the average of its rivals. This includes depreciation. The saving was nearly one cent per mile.

The reasons are these

The Studebaker Light-Six, in its chassis, represents the best we know. In steel and in workmanship it is identical with the costliest cars we build.
